

"Tilting The Level Playing Field"

The LGSL has over 2000 services you are expected to deliver.

Every single one of those will be digital soon, and totally dependant on software.

Wouldn't it be nice if your software was Free ?

Open Source Software delivers higher quality, at lower cost and is available to anyone in a public library-like model. It uses a development model utterly in tune with democratic and grass roots government - and yet barely 1 in 70 tender adverts for software even mentions Open Source.

We want to kickstart four pilot projects right here in the conference to demonstrate that Open Source Software is the right development model for local government.
